The death last Thursday of Mrs. Mary Sophia Hyde Rice, lovingly known among the multitude

Mother Rice Has Passed Away

of her friends and admirers in this Territory as "Mother Rice," takes away from us a rare character, of a stamp that is seldom met with on this all too selfish earth.

Mother Rice was a woman without an enemy in the world, and this was true, not because of a too pliant and vacillating disposition, as with many who are not strong enough even to have enemies. Because she was an energetic and forceful woman who would not hesitate to put her foot down and say "no" whenever her conscience told her "no" was necessary. But combined with this her gentleness of spirit and charm of manner, together with her wisdom and feminine intuition far transcending a woman's ordinary birthright, made her invincible at winning friends. And once a person became her friend, that person was her friend forever.

Mother Rice's life was the ideal life of a true missionary. Born nearly ninety-five years ago, of parents who had established a successful mission among the Seneca Indians near the present site of Buffalo, in the western portion of New York State, her early life was accustomed to the rigors and hardships of the pioneers. Married in 1840 to Dr. Wm. Harrison Rice of Hamham, New York, a young man who had made teaching his life work, they decided that the little understood Sandwich Islands, a home of a strong race of Polynesians, who were given over to savagery but who possessed the instincts of a noble people, extended a call to them.

So in 1840, in obedience to this summons, they set sail from Boston with a small company of other devoted men and women, and after the long voyage, the events of which are recounted more at length in another column, they were greeted in Honolulu by a devoted band of missionaries who had preceded them.

Their first three years being spent among the aboriginal Hawaiians of Maui, they were called from there to the newly established school for the children of the missionaries which was located at Pualoa, where they spent ten years in helping to instill the principles of Christian conduct in the descendants of the missionaries, whose later lives have testified to the value of the teachings they received.

Mother Rice's life here has been since the death of her husband forty-eight years ago one of unexampled devotion to the cause of the Hawaiian race, and the countless numbers of instances of her unerring instinct in working for their betterment is unexampled in the history of the missionary activities in these Islands. Her life will always be a guiding star for those who desire the best future for the Hawaiian race and for the Territory of Hawaii.

They have a scheme on foot on Hawaii to increase the county revenue by issuing more liquor licenses. Setting fire to the home to keep warm is the height of wisdom, compared to Hawaii's latest. (R.)

In naming the health inspector for Kauai, the first consideration should be qualification.

"As Others See Us" Educational News Notes Trent Trust Co. Report Beaten By A Policeman Bishop & Co.

The Garden Island, Kauai's enterprising weekly, is again with us, like Phoenix, risen from the ashes. In its new form, that paper is certainly a credit to Kauai favored Kauai. O. Luso.

The publishers of The Garden Island deserve all the support Kauaians can give them, in view of the way in which they have improved the Kauai publication in the face of fire and other setbacks. The Garden Island, as it now appears, is a creditable sheet, newsy and well printed. Advt.

So far, the information obtainable concerning the work of the Wharf Tax committee may be represented with a big round O. Advertiser.

So far, the information obtained concerning the desire of the people on the Federal building site, through the Morning Bladder's vote-getting scheme, may be represented by the disgruntled attitude of its wise (?) editor.

As the mosquito campaign is on in earnest it may be timely useful to our readers just at the beginning of warm weather to remind them that they can pretty well get rid of these dangerous pests if they begin early to disinfect and stamp out their breeding places, by the use of preparations which are easily obtained at drug stores. The expense is small. It is now well known that the common house fly is the worst propagator of disease both infectious and contagious, we have. It is not until recently that its deadly character became known. It not only lives and thrives on filth and disease germs, but these are practically essential to its normal existence.

This being the case, it spreads these deadly germs upon whatever it touches or wherever it crawls. It carries them upon its feet to the next whereon it alights, and any so-called "fly speck" is liable to be exposed to typhoid fever, and the pests spread other diseases with almost equal fertility.

Of course we cannot very well rid our premises of flies when a neighbor supplies breeding places for them, and this is a phase of the matter that should also have consideration. But induce your neighbor to join with you in this comparatively easy war of extermination. It will pay him as well it will you, and he will not refuse if he understands the danger and appreciates the ease of obliterating the pests. By working together, the time and cost may be very much reduced and the work more effective.

In this connection of combined rather than individual effort, have you, as a reader of this publication, ever fully appreciated how much can be done by those who live as near neighbors by working thus together? Your interests are identical in most respects, and in the case of everything that encompasses the home or business, combined effort divides up the cost and time according to the number engaged in it.

Prohibition Is A Farce

An exchange commenting on prohibition in the state of Georgia, speaks as follows: "Discharging his petit jury following five acquittals of saloonists charged with retailing liquor, Judge Henry C. Hammond of the superior court, commenting from the bench, presented facts tending to show that despite the prohibition law in Georgia, the people want liquor, the state licenses the dealers, jurors refuse to convict, and hence the prohibition law of the state is a farce and a failure."

Favor The Water Front

(Special to the Garden Island) HONOLULU, May 25. The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce favors locating the new soldiers barracks on the Alcatraz site on the water front.

No fewer than twenty teachers on the mainland wrote to Superintendent of Public Instruction W. T. Pope, by the last mail, making application for positions on the Islands. It appears that scores of pedagogues there would like to come to Hawaii to teach the young idea how to shoot.

Unless the applicants make up their minds to come here and take their chances without being promised jobs the Territory is not likely to make use of their services, no matter how valuable they may be.

"We are not drawing teachers from away to amount to anything," said Mr. Pope. "Enough of them come down here just to look around and see the field. Moreover, about thirty will be turned out at the normal school this year and local teachers are encouraged, of course."

The department has received expressions of opinion from most of the public school teachers of the Territory in reference to the proposed change in the school terms so as to avoid holding school during much of the warm weather.

The matter was taken up at the April meeting of the commissioners of public instruction and it was decided that, for the best interests of both pupils and teachers the terms for the next school year, 1911-12, be arranged as follows:

Fall term, thirteen weeks, September 18 to December 15.

Winter term, fourteen weeks, January 2 to April 5.

Spring term, eleven weeks, April 15 to June 28.

This year the school year will end on June 23. It will start again on September 18, and circulars telling of the time are to be sent out to the teachers so that they can make their plans. The dates of the fall term will particularly interest them.

In view of the fact that the department is now receiving a large number of pamphlets from various schools and institutions on the mainland, dealing with all sorts of activities along school lines, Superintendent Pope has installed a set of filing cases so that the documents will be readily available to teachers and to members of the public who may be interested. College Man To Coast

BERKELEY, May 8. Prof. Fred L. Charles, who committed suicide at his home in Urbana, Ill., was well known on the campus of the University of California, to which he had been appointed as a member of the faculty of the summer session this year. He was to have given instruction work in the agricultural department on nature study, of which he was an authority.

He choked himself to death yesterday, leaving a note to his wife, which read: "I have made a failure of life. Please look over what I have done."

Prof. E. B. Babcock of the agricultural department, who during a trip east stopped at the home of Professor Charles and assisted him on an edition of the Nature Study Review, declared that he was not surprised over the act of the savant. "I was not altogether surprised at the death of Professor Charles when I read of his suicide this morning. While I was a guest at his home last year he complained of pains in his head, and I wish I had urged him to take a leave of absence."

Shortly before his death Professor Charles resigned from the faculty of the summer session, and his place will be taken by Prof. Vaughan McCaughey of the College of Hawaii.

Prof. F. C. Becker of the philosophy department knew the dead professor well. "He was a fine young man, and had a brilliant future before him," said Becker. "I am sorry to learn of his death."

Honolulu, May 26th, 1911. The First Trust Co. of Hilo, Ltd. GENTLEMEN:

The present sugar stock market has ruled apathetic throughout the week with trading confined to the popular issues and of small volume.

There seems to be a lack of available funds for investing and a desire to buy sparingly. This condition is of course of periodical occurrence on all stock exchanges and the tendency of the market during such times is usually toward a gradual shrinking in values. At the present time this is noticeable in Ewa, which changed hands today at 32, while the last previous sale was made at 32 1-2. Oahu sold recently at 30 3-4 and today a transaction was made at 30 per share.

The price of Raw Sugar has remained nearly stationary for several weeks; consequently, the market has benefited from the usual speculation that follows any change in the price of this commodity.

Two transactions in Hawaiian Agricultural stock on basis of $250.00 per share deserve mention for the last previous sale was made at $250.00. The increase is due to the larger acreage to be harvested, assuring a considerable increase in tonnage over last year.

The market closed as follows: Ewa 31 3-4 bid for a small lot, with offerings at 32.

Oahu 30 bid, 30 1-4 asked.

N. C. &amp; S. Co. 38 3-4 asked with no buyers.

Waialua is steady at 113 1-2 bid; 114 asked.

Pioneer 203 bid; 204 1-2 asked.

Olau 4 3-8 bid; 4 5-8 asked, and

McBryde 6 1-4 bid; 6 3-4 asked.

Yours truly,

TRENT TRUST CO., LTD.

Richmond Case Again

HONOLULU, May 27. A petition to change the report of the Federal jury in the Richmond case, was filed yesterday. Breckons says it is not within his province, to change the report as the jury is scattered. It may not be done at all—certainly not until the jury is together again.

HONOLULU, May 27. Moore, marine, who attempted sometime ago to get away on a Sampan, made an attempt last night to make a get away on the Zelandia, but was held up by officers and a hand to hand fight took place, with the police, one of whom, Carter, struck Moore from the rear with a "billy." Carter was remonstrated with by members of Sheffield Choir. Carter assaulted him later and is said to have struck Moore while the latter was in custody of officers.
